

DATE: 27th May 2020

On behalf of the World Indigenous Tourism Summit (WITS 2020), being hosted by WAITOC and WINTA, we are advising today that WITS 2020, which was rescheduled to 2nd – 5th November 2020, will no longer be taking place at this time.

The organising committee have been continuously reviewing all available information from Governments and health authorities, in response to the COVID-19 virus situation.

We've also taken into account the concerns around speakers, sponsors, exhibitors, stakeholders and potential attendees being able to make definitive plans to attend the summit. We feel taking the approach to postpone the Summit a second time is a responsible and appropriate response to this crisis.

We are currently working with our venue partner to secure dates in late 2021 and will announce the new dates as soon as possible.

In the meantime, for those delegates that have already registered for WITS and would like to discuss their registration, please email wits2020@theassociationspecialists.com.au.

We apologise for any inconvenience this may cause and look forward to coming together next year to support what will be an excellent event.

The committee thanks you for your support and patience throughout the last few months.
